SOCIETY.

Musicals at Armory.
Large and handsomely appointed was a musical at which Mrs. W. N. Leche was hostess yesterday afternoon at the Armory. The affair was the largest social event of the kind held in Connellsville in recent years, and the musical program was pronounced by all the guests as the best they had ever had the opportunity of listening to. The guests numbered 155 and included many music lovers of Connellsville and nearby towns. Those who participated in the program were all well known local talent and yesterday they were at their best. Their selections were well selected and were rendered in a very capable manner. The musical was held in the large card room of the Armory. The decorations were of a very elaborate nature, the large room being transformed into a house of rare beauty. On entering the room one was reminded of a large and attractive fairyland. Beautifully tinted autumn leaves hung from the ceiling, doorways and windows and when the lights were turned on a very subdued effect was produced. Tall ferns were banded on the piano and were also artistically arranged on the tables. The prevailing color scheme, red, green and white, could not have been carried out in a more effective manner. The hostess had at her side, Mrs. H. L. Atkinson, Mrs. Harry Dunn, Mrs. J. Donald Porter, Mrs. Harry Carpenter, Mrs. J. M. Young and Miss Donna Knott.

The program rendered was as follows: Vocal trio, "Merrily, Merrily," Misses Elizabeth Mae Brown, Pearl Keck and Dr. Katherine Wakefield; with Mrs. A. W. Bishop as pianist; trio, "Beautiful Night," the Misses Brown, Keck and Dr. Wakefield, pianist, Mrs. A. W. Bishop; piano solo, Miss Jessie Jones; vocal solo, "The Last Chord," H. O. Clabaugh, pianist; Miss Pearl Keck; piano solo, Miss Pearl Keck; vocal trio, "Little Mockingbird," Misses Brown, Keck and Dr. Wakefield; piano duet, "Merrily," Miss Elizabeth Mae Brown and Miss Clark; cello solo, Mr. Close of Dawson; solo, "Schubert's Serenade," Miss Elizabeth Mae Brown and Mr. Close; piano accompaniment and Miss Pearl Keck as pianist; vocal quartet, "April Laurie," Misses Florence Cavanaugh, Pearl Keck, Elizabeth Mae Brown and Dr. Katherine Wakefield, with Mrs. Bishop as accompanist; cello solo, Mr. Close; vocal solo, "The Last Chord," H. O. Clabaugh, pianist. A well arranged luncheon followed the program. The out of town guests were Misses Anne and Josephine McCullough, Mrs. J. P. Miller, Mrs. L. R. Bratton of Pittsburgh; Mrs. P. J. Use Gold Dust Instead of Soap.
You really don't need soap in the house, except for toilet and bath, and possibly a little for your face and lingerie. With Gold Dust—the all round cleanser—you can do all your household cleaning more quickly—easily—economically than you can with soap or any other cleanser.

Gold Dust does the work better, too. Soap only cleans off the surface; Gold Dust goes into every corner cleaning and purifying—driving out the germs as well as the dirt. Best of all, you don't need any elbow grease with Gold Dust—it does the work itself.

IN TERRIBLE SHAPE.

Rheumatism Routed With Just One Bottle of Marvellous RHEUMA.

The best thing about this letter is that it is true—every word of it. "I have taken only one bottle of RHEUMA and the result is wonderful. I was in terrible shape from Rheumatism, but that is all past."—Bert Hilkey, 25 Grove St., Union City, Pa.
Read it again, you Rheumatics, full of Uric Acid poison, who are going around saying Rheumatism can't be cured. Then read this one: "I want to get a bottle of RHEUMA for my mother. My mother-in-law used it. Two bottles cured her of Rheumatism completely." Wm. H. Phillips, Box 45, Hedgesville, W. Va.
We could give you a hundred more if we had the space. A. A. Clarke guarantees RHEUMA or money back.

CHALLENGE SALE

A Tremendous Irresistible Price Lowering Occasion Forcibly Emphasizing the Value Giving Supremacy of this Store.

This is the First Challenge Sale Inaugurated in Fayette County. We Are a New Firm With the Largest Store in the County. We Are and Must Be Progressive.

To tell you that this is one of the epoch-making events of this store is to speak but lightly of a sale that really has no parallel in this section of the country. We know that statement appears big but we tell you that every word of it can be rightly compared with it. Not only is the quantity of merchandise involved larger than any we've ever before offered, but the values in every instance surpass all others.

The movement includes many special purchases in addition to our own regular stocks. Prices have been cut without regard to value or cost. In many instances the reductions are far below the wholesale cost. And in every case remarkable savings can be effected.

The price knife has been wielded recklessly. This Challenge Sale will at once reach a commanding position by the very power and the purpose of this event. It presents to the prudent purchaser an opportunity to save which comes but once in a very, very great while.

Sale Starts Tomorrow, October 14th. Doors Open 9 A. M. Sharp.

We throw down the gauntlet and challenge competition to match these sensational values.

AFTER FORTY YEARS.

Camden, S. C., Woman Recovers From Stomach Trouble.

No one who is not well nourished can be good-natured. That is why dyspeptics are always irritable.

But stomach trouble can be cured in nearly all cases, even after years of suffering. Mrs. Sarah C. Ammons, Camden, S. C., says "I suffered from nervous dyspepsia for forty years and feared I should never get over it. It kept me in misery all the time. I was terribly run down, could not sleep—thought my health was ruined."

"Last spring I began taking Vinol and it has no equal. I soon began to improve and now I am a well woman again for the first time in forty years. My appetite is good, I sleep well and have no stomach trouble at all. These are the plain facts."

"Take our word for it, when you are weak and run down, cannot eat or sleep, Vinol is what you need for it will build you up and make you strong. We guarantee Vinol to please you money back if it does not."

Graham & Company, Druggists, Connelville, Pa. Vinol is sold in West Side, Connelville, by Fred H. Harnesburg, Druggist.

CONNELLSVILLE'S CITY GOVERNMENT CASE.

The Third Class City question, which has been pending in Conneltsville and Pottsville since the passage of the Act of June 21, 1911, was formally presented to the Supreme Court yesterday, when Pottsville at the request of its attorneys was permitted to join in the proceedings.

The question was argued by the attorneys representing each city. We presented yesterday the argument of Counselor Higbee, but as yet have been unable to secure the brief of the Pottsville attorneys.

The arguments of the learned counsel are exhaustive. There are refinements of legal logic. They are fortified with extracts from many previous decisions of the court on many subjects having but a collateral bearing upon the question at issue, which is merely the reasonable construction of the Act of June 21, 1911, which was only intended to fit the times of elections and the terms of city officers to the Constitutional Amendments designed to reduce the number of elections each year to one primary and one general election.

Connellsville voted to be a city in 1910. The formal act of issuing its charter was by the neglect of the State authorities was not consummated until May 12, 1911. The counsel argues with some force, that Connellsville then became a city de jure under the existing law with the right to become a city de facto after having elected its city officers at the first available opportunity. That first opportunity is in this fall. This construction of the law seems to us to be just and reasonable.

The Supreme Court should give this question its immediate consideration to the end that if the decision is favorable the citizens of Connellsville may be afforded an opportunity to get their candidates for city officers printed on the official ballot and voted for this fall. This can be done by nomination papers within 21 days of the election. If the decision is rendered between this time and the coming Monday, and if in the meantime prospective candidates get their petitions prepared and signed ready for filing they can, in the event of a favorable decision, get their names on the ticket.

If a decision is not rendered until it is too late to file nomination papers, we confess we do not see how it will be of any benefit to Connellsville. It will put Pottsville in a tight, and that is the reason the Pottsville people were so much interested in the case and why the Court permitted them to intervene.

Another peculiar feature about our situation is that if the Supreme Court shall decide in favor of city government for Connellsville this year, and only a part of the city candidates file nomination papers, leaving a number of vacancies, how are those vacancies to be filled? Has the Governor or any other official or officials appointive power? If there is any such power, it is not apparent. A partial set of city officers might, therefore, be an impediment as none at all.

It is apparent that if Connellsville gets city government this year her public-spirited citizens will have to hustle for it.

The suggestion of our esteemed friend, that excellent citizen who counsels, leads and able lawyer, Edward Carter Higbee, that the citizens of Connellsville meet in the Chamber of Commerce Saturday evening and agree upon a non-partisan city ticket to the end that if the Supreme Court determines our contention in the affirmative we may be able to present a public-spirited and as nearly perfect ticket as possible to the voters of the city without opposition, is a most laudable proposition. If a limited number of excellent citizens should by this means sign nomination papers for a complete and highly creditable set of city officers, to be filed in case the Supreme Court renders a favorable decision, and if there should be no other nomination papers filed, and no contests for any of the offices, it would perhaps be the best possible argument in favor of the public cause that was ever made in the history of the nation. However, desperate conditions demand desperate measures. The third class city train is due to leave in a few days and unless we are there with our baggage we will have to wait two years more.

Incedarism is running riot in Scotland.

SHE HAD CONSTANT PAIN

Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dewittville, N. Y.—"Before I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I suffered nearly all the time with headaches, backaches, and bearing down pains, and had a continuous pain in my left side. It made me sick if I tried to walk much, and my back was so weak that I was obliged to wear corsets all the time. But now I do not have any of these troubles. I have a fine strong baby daughter now, which I did not have before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. A. A. GULLIS, Route 11, Dewittville, N. Y.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

BURNING DAYLIGHT
BY JACK LONDON
AUTHOR OF "THE CALL OF THE WILD," "WHITE FANG," "MARTIN EDEN," ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY DEARBORN MEYER.

Daylight panned for nothing, heading for the door and pulling down his ear flaps. Kama stood outside by the sled, a long, narrow affair, sixteen inches wide and seven and a half feet in length, its slatted bottom raised six inches above the steel-shod runners. On it, lashed with bands of moose hide, were the light canvas bags that contained the mail, and the food and gear for dogs and man. In front of it, in a single line, lay curled five frost-rimmed dogs. They were huskies, matched in size and color, all unusually large and all grey. From their cruel jaws to their bushy tails they were as alike as pens in their likeness to timber wolves. Wolves they were, domesticated. It was true, but wolves in appearance and in all their characteristics. On top the sled sat, thrust under the lashings and ready for immediate use, were two pairs of snowshoes. Daylight was saying good-by to those who clustered around him. The Virgin wanted to kiss him, and, fuddled slightly though he was with the whisky, he saw his way out without compromising with the apron-string. He kissed the Virgin, but he kissed the other three women with equal partiality. He pulled on his long mittens, roused the dogs to their feet, and took his place at the gee-pole.

"Mush, you beauties!" he cried. The animals threw their weights against their breastbands on the instant, crouching low to the snow and digging in their claws. They whined eagerly, and before the sled had gone half a dozen lengths both Daylight and Kama (in the rear) were running to keep up. And so, running, man and dogs dipped over the back and down to the frozen bed of the Yukon, and in the grey light were gone. On the river, where was a packed trail and where snowshoes were unnecessary, the dogs averaged six miles an hour. To keep up with them, the two men were compelled to run. Daylight and Kama relieved each other regularly at the gee-pole, for here was the hard work of steering the flying sled and of keeping in advance of it. The men relieved dropped behind the sled, occasionally leaping upon it and resting, as if through a wall, Daylight, had dim end of day; but he kept on and over and down to Sheep Camp, while behind him raged a snow storm that would have delayed him twenty-four hours. This last excessive strain broke Kama completely. In the morning he could not travel. At five when called, he sat up after a struggle, groaned, and sank back again. Daylight did the camp work of both, harnessed the dogs, and when ready for the start, rolled the helpless Indian in all three sleeping robes and lashed him on top of the sled. The going was good; they were on their last lap, and he traced the dogs down through Dyon canyon and along the hard-packed trail that led to Dyon post. And running still, Kama groaning on top the load, and Daylight leaping at the gee-pole to avoid going under the runners of the flying sled, they arrived at Dyon by the sea. True to his promise, Daylight did not stop. An hour's time saw the sled loaded with the howling mail and grub, fresh dogs harnessed and a fresh Indian engaged. Kama never spoke from the time of his arrival till the moment Daylight, ready to depart, stood beside him to say good-by. They shook hands.

"You kill um dat damn Indian," Kama said. "Savoo, Daylight? You kill um."

"I'll sure last as far as Pelly," Daylight grinned.

Kama shook his head doubtfully, and rolled over on his side, turning his back in token of farewell.

A crowd filled the Thloil—the old crowd that had seen Daylight depart two months before; for this was the night of the sixtieth day, and opinion failed, yet she made a bet of twenty ounces with Charlie Bates, against which she had no chance. Daylight would arrive before midnight.

The Time Came When Kama Was Unable to Go in the Lead.

She it was who heard the first steps of the dogs.

"Listen!" she cried. "It's Daylight!"

There was a general stampede for the door; but when the double storm-doors were thrown wide open, the crowd fell back. They heard the eager whining of dogs, the snap of a dog-whip and the voice of Daylight crying encouragement as the weary animals crept all they had done by dragging the sled over the wooden floor.

They came in with a rush, and with them rushed in the frost, a visible vapor of smoking white, through which their heads and backs showed, as they strained in the harness, till they had all the seeming of swimming in a river. Behind them, at the gee-pole, came Daylight, hidden to the knees by the swirling frost through which he appeared to wade. He was the same old Daylight, withal lean and tired looking, and his black eyes were sparkling and flashing brighter than ever. His parka of cotton drill hooded him like a monk, and fell in straight lines to his knees. Grinned and scorched by camp smoke and fire, the garment in itself told the story of his trip.

A two months' beard covered his face; and the beard in turn, was matted with the ice of his breathing through the long seventy-mile run.

He experienced a thrill of surprise as the roar of welcome went up and as every familiar detail of the Thloil greeted his vision—the long bar and the array of bottles, the gambling games, the big stove, the welsher at his goldscale, the musicians, the men and women, the Virgin, Colla, and Nellie, Dan MacDonnell, Bottles, Billy Rawlins, Olat Henderson, Doc Watson—all of them. It was just as he had left it, and in all seeming it might well be the very day he had left. The sixty days of incessant travel through the white wilderness suddenly telescoped, and had no existence in time. They were a moment, an incident. He had plunged out and into them through the wall of silence and back through the wall of silence he had plunged, apparently the next instant, and into the roar and turmoil of the Thloil.

He drew a deep breath and cried: "The winner pays, and I'm the winner, ain't I? Surge up, you-all Malemutes and Stewards, and name your poison. There's your Dyon mail, straight from Salt Water, and no hollering about it!" Cast the lashing swagging about it! Cast the lashing about it, you-all, and wade into it!"

A dozen pairs of hands were at the sled-lashings, when the young Lo Bargo Indian, bending at the same task, suddenly and limply straightened up. In his eyes was a great surprise. He stared about him wildly, for the thing he was undergoing was new to him. He was profoundly struck by an unguessed imitation. He shook as with a palsy, and he gave at the knees, slowly sinking down to fall suddenly across the sled and to know the amazing blow of darkness across his consciousness.

"Exhaustion," said Daylight. "Take him off and put him to bed, some of you. He's sure a good Indian."

A few minutes later, Daylight was whirling around the dance floor, waiting with the Virgin. And small wonder it was that the Virgin yielded herself to his arms, as they danced dance after dance, and sick at heart at the knowledge that he found nothing in her more than a good friend and an excellent dancer. Small consolation it was to know that he never loved any woman. She was sick with love of him, and he danced with her as he would dance with any woman, as he would dance with a man who was a good dancer and upon whose arm was tied a handkerchief to conventionalize him into a woman.

At one in the morning he saw Elijah Davis hording Henry Finn and Joe Hibbs, the lumber-jack, toward the door. Daylight interfered.

"Where are you all going?" he demanded, attempting to draw them to the bar.

"Bed," Elijah Davis answered.

"Got to," Joe Hibbs added apologetically. "We're musing out in the morning."

Daylight still detained them.

"Where to? What's the excitement?"

"No excitement," Elijah explained. "We're just again to play your hunch, an' tickle the Upper Country. Don't you want to come along?"

"I sure do," Daylight affirmed.

But the question had been put in fun, and Elijah ignored the acceptance.

"We're tackling the Stewart," he went on. "Al Mayo told me he seen some likely looking' barges first time he come down the Stewart, and we're going to sample 'em while the river's froze. You listen, Daylight, an' mark my words, the time's comin' when winter diggin's 'll be all the go. There'll be men in them barges that'll laugh at our summer scratchin' an' ground-wallerin'."

Elijah laughed, gathered his two partners up, and was making a second attempt to reach the door.

"Hold on," Daylight called. "I sure mean it."

The three men turned back suddenly upon him, in their faces surprise, delight, and incredulity.

"Gwan, you're foolin'," said Finn, the other lumber-jack, a quiet, steady, Wisconsin man.

"There's my dawgs and sled," Daylight answered. "That'll make two teams and halve the loads; though we all 'll have to travel easy for a spell, for them dawgs is sure tired."

The three men were overjoyed, but still a trifle incredulous.

"Now look here," Joe Hibbs blurted out, "none of your foolin'. Daylight, we mean business. Will you come?"

Daylight extended his hand and shook.

HE TOOK A CHANCE

And Now Mourns the Loss of Securities Worth Thousands.

"Oh well, I'll take a chance," a Pittsburgh man said, when urged to put his valuable papers in a Safe Deposit Vault. He took the chance. Just to save the trifling expense of a safe deposit box he left his valuables in an ordinary office safe, and a few weeks later, a thief looted that safe of securities worth thousands of dollars. This is not a fairy story but the absolute truth. What happened to him may happen to anyone whose valuables are not in Safe Deposit. Better go to the First National Bank of Connellsville today, and place your valuables where neither fire nor thieves can touch them.

Plans have been drawn to publish in Manchester, England, a half-penny daily newspaper, devoted to the labor and Socialist movement, and called The Sun Trade unions and other subscribers the necessary capital of $150,000 for the enterprise.

Irwin Team Comes Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon the Connellsville High School football team will go against the first really difficult proposition of the season, Irwin High comes here. Intense rivalry prevails between the two schools and Irwin is determined to wipe out the defeats of former years. For Connellsville it will show whether there is a chance against Greensburg High.

The Irwin team is practically the same as last year. The center position is to be stubbornly fought from start to finish. Since the sidelines have been roped off the playing field is left clear and both teams are able to work to much better advantage than heretofore. The two teams will line up as follows:

Basketball Notes.
Liddle Perat will manage the new Charlevoix team in the Central league. Perhaps managerial cares will stay Eddie's impulse to take every chance for a shot to the detriment of team play. Under reserve by the Charlevoix team are Kinkade, Henschell, Pennington, Jimmy Brown, Leary and Jack Adams. Of course there is no chance of Duke Pennington or Henschell making their appearance in the Central league but the others will probably fall in line. Jack Adams will strengthen the team and there is other good material in the list. Charlevoix needs most a center and one guard.

With Getzinger, out Uniontown will need considerable training to reach its proper form. The boys won the pennant for McKeesport simply because of great team play and with a new front jumping center Andy Sears won't set the league afire the first few weeks. There is a persistent report from Reading that Charles O'Donnell may not be in the game this year. The McKeesport Champions, without Getzinger and O'Donnell would make as much noise as South Side without Hough and Powell. O'Donnell may report. For the sake of the league in general it is hoped he will. He is the brainiest player in the circuit.

Harry Hough is to coach the Princeton basketball team this year. What Harry doesn't know about the game isn't worth noticing.

Things are lively along the Hudson. There will be two leagues this year instead of one. Besides the Hudson River organization the New York State Basketball League will have a six club circuit. Troy, Catskill, Coxsack, Hudson, Schoenectady and Glensville are the towns. The Hudson River valley cannot be beaten for attendance. Last year Troy averaged 3000 per game. Help!

Trenton will have some team in the Eastern league. Manager Fred Cooper is figuring on Riley and Fred, forwards; Getzinger, center; and Harry Hough and Hahn for guards. Getzinger and Hough are teammates! What!

The Hudson River league is now composed of Kingston, Newburgh, White Plains and Yonkers. This league got the business after the State league had taken the cream of the towns. Secretary J. H. Fogel of the Hudson league wants Bobby Mayhew, the South Side player, to put a team in Trenton to play nights the Eastern league team is now headed. Hough wants Mayhew for the Trenton Eastern league team and Bobby has all kinds of offers to help him get a boost in salary from South Side.

Johnstown figures on the following players reporting: Fogarty, Steele, Wolfarth, Newman, Keenan, McLaughlin, Haisel, Solt and Oberlin. Oberlin is the New York tower said to have the goods.

After leaving Connellsville last year Sherwood Muege played with the famous Buffalo Germans. He scored 17 field goals in nine games.

Let us hope all teams will live up to the $1200 salary limit. Conducted along same lines the Central league magnates should make money out of the game instead of losing it.

Uniontown has waived claim on Henschell and Pennington and turned their reserve papers over to Charlevoix. The Charlevoix management might frame them. They look nice but in the meantime Pennington and Henschell will continue to cop the kale along the picturesque Hudson.

Sale of Overcoats

Beginning Saturday of this Week We'll Offer for Sale 106 Overcoats for Men. The Lot Represents the Best Picking From the Stock

Lee Nussbaum Co. of 20 West 18th Street, New York.

$10.95 for Men's Overcoats Worth to $18.00

$14.95 for Men's Overcoats Worth to $25.00

No sale of Overcoats in the history of Connellsville can be compared with this sale of Nussbaum garments. The Lee Nussbaum Co. was one of New York's smaller but most exclusive manufacturers of men's garments—but overcoats were their really strong point. The company made a business change and consolidated with the Wm. Lauterbach Co. of the same city. Several hundred overcoats remained from Nussbaum's business—a very small item, easily wiped off the old slate if prices were put low enough.

Our buyer went to New York and arranged to spend a certain amount of money for as many overcoats of the best quality it would cover. For the amount spent we could have taken a greater number of garments of a cheaper grade and yet given excellent values for $10.95 and $14.95. By taking the cream—the best assortment from his hundreds—our number figure 1 just over one hundred suits.

Lee Nussbaum Co. didn't have a remarkably big business because clothing buyers, when they went to market wanted to buy cheaper clothing for the bulk of their stock and a smaller quantity for their best customers. But, if a special garment (particularly an overcoat) was wanted—then they went, or sent, to Nussbaum.

So, in his set way, Nussbaum went on making overcoats, high grade ones, mostly, and a few real good ones at lower prices as a side line, until increased business offered an opportunity to combine forces with another good maker, Lauterbach. What Nussbaum and Lauterbach will do, doesn't interest you so much as what Nussbaum did because the advantage concerns you if you want a good overcoat at a little price.

Nussbaum Overcoats

have always met the requirements of men and youths whose pleasure and duty is to be well dressed.

All wool—chemically proven all wool.

Starting with all wool fabrics Nussbaum sees to it that his makers use proper linings and "findings"—that the inner linings and stays (the steel frame of the building, so to speak) are of proper stuffs, thoroughly shrunken and properly shaped. The real shape of the garment is tailored into it—the stitches about the collar taken with skilled precision and pulled home. Treat such a garment ever so roughly and it will still be shapely, a casual pressing will make it look almost as new.

The Sizes---34, 35, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44

THE COLORS—Black, grey and tan, plain colors. Grey or tan in diagonal weaves, stripes or invisible lines. Grey or tan cravenetted cloth with convertible collars.

STYLES—Black coats $\frac{3}{4}$ length with plain or velvet collars. Long grey or tan coats with regular or Presto collars. Chesterfield styles, shapely and dignified.

THE CLOTHES—Proven all wove Kersey cloth, mixtures and black cuna.

Make haste, men, when the sale day comes. And remember—whether it's overcoat weather or not—get in on this because cold weather is sure to come and this opportunity will likely be gone.

Toilet Preparations for Those Who Love Daintiness.

To the Miss—who is as dainty and particular, surely, as her grown up sister, and as exacting of the toilet articles that will presently go on her dressing table, and

To the elderly woman—who, by judicious use of the best preparations, retains her youthfulness, this notice that stocks have been renewed—will interest both. From this moment you may get the most notable requisites compounded by Colgate, Hudson, Rileys, or and Hansen Jenks; perfumes, toilet waters, sachets, talcum, dental preparations, lotions, cold creams, makeup cream, soaps, manicure needs—in fact, you'll find about everything that an up-to-date toilet goods department should show.

that will show the spectators how much time is left to play. This is one of the big features of the Johnstown hall. It adopted here there should be a physician handy to administer relief to weak hearts when the score is close in the last minute of play.

Connellsville basketball fans would like to see a six club league. President Robert Norris of the local organization has expressed the opinion that it would be a win of welcome for the Central league to start with only six clubs. Six clubs are much to be preferred—if all six will stick the season out.

the best of the very best. This policy has proven to be a wise one, and those familiar with affairs are well aware of the fact that this organization this season has surpassed the keenest anticipations of its management.

There is hardly any need to explain just what Buster Brown will be doing at the Solon theatre, matinee and night, Tuesday, Oct. 17. This lad, who is itching to be spanked, is so widely known and has captured with "Tige" and Mary Jane so often on the local stage that comment is unnecessary. Suffice to say that he will return with a few new faces in his immediate family and a new play entirely, new musical numbers and vaudeville specialties.
